Navigating Insurance Coverage for Rehab

Does Insurance Cover Rehab for Alcohol?

One of the first questions you might have is whether insurance covers rehab for alcohol. The good news is that many insurance plans do offer coverage, but the specifics can vary widely. Here's what you need to know:

- 1. Coverage Categories: Substance abuse treatment is often classified under several categories, such as mental health care and outpatient services. Your insurance likely covers some, if not all, of these services, but they may not be explicitly listed as mental health care.
- 2. Insurance Agent Discussions: It's crucial to speak with your insurance agent to determine exactly how drug and alcohol rehab fits into your health insurance policy. Each provider is different in terms of financial qualifications and the types of coverage they offer.
